Knutsford Precinct, Fremantle

Knutsford is an innovative urban renewal initiative to transform a former industrial area of Fremantle into a vibrant new community of more than 2,000 people. The 23 hectare Knutsford precinct is located only one kilometre from the centre of Fremantle, with good access to major transport links and schools in the area.

Knutsford embraces innovative housing concepts that embody Fremantle's unique identity and the former industrial character of the area and integrate well into fabric of community. The pioneering White Gum Valley project helped pilot the 'One Planet' sustainability principles applied at Knutsford.

Structure planning and design guidelines have been completed over the precinct. Four major development sites have been identified, comprising a mix of public and private land, and are being released to the market in stages.

The first site has already been released and Knutsford JV is developing housing product in three stages, with Stage 3 now on the market. In 2016, Stage 1 designed by Spaceagency won the Australian Institute of Architect's national award for multi-residential architecture and sets the benchmark for new housing in the precinct.

The second site is currently under construction and is planned to accommodate a mix of town houses and multistorey apartments. Two larger multi-storey apartment lots will be released to the market, with the first due to be released in the second half of 2019. Remaining sites are anticipated to be released after 2021.
